

THINK TANK

The future of the legal market and the way we work continues to change apace and law firms across the UK are continuously thinking of ways to adapt. Sharing opinions and experiences with like-minded peers has never been so important.

The Legal Think Tank offers a platform for Managing Partners, IT Directors, Marketing Directors and other Law Firm Business Leaders to come together on an informal basis and form their own agenda.

- Discuss challenges with like-minded colleagues to explore solutions
- Seek opinions on key issues
- Work closer to quickly adapt to new ways of working

"A great opportunity to talk with like-minded peers on an informal basis about various subjects important to the legal sector. Obtaining views of other individuals is imperative as the market continues to shape itself. The Think Tanks enable my firm to listen to others opinions and perspectives which is incredibly important as we shape the future of the market. I would highly recommend attending and encourage contributing to the conversation."

Managing Partner of Kitsons, Rhodri Davey

"Critical to my own role is staying abreast of the market. I need to know what is emerging, how it can help our firm and whether it is being adopted successfully by the wider market.

The Think Tanks give me access to a broad spectrum of people and legal focused businesses who offer opinions and experience on very different topics. The collaboration between members generates ideas, allows me to stay fresh and keep up-to-date, which ultimately benefits the business.."

Simon Clark, Director of IT,
Stephens Scown

"The think tank is incredibly valuable as it offers members the opportunity of sharing common pain points, operational challenges and bright innovations in a friendly informal environment. Providing members with carefully curated content, the think tanks delivers exceptional intellectual capital."

Think Tank Chairperson and former
IT Director of Wright Hassall,
Martyn Wells

Participation is completely free, meeting regularly to participate, contribute or simply listen to the conversation.
